

Patrick F. Larue, PhD

The University of Texas at Dallas
Department of Political Science
800 West Campbell Road, GR 31
Richardson, TX 75080
patrick.larue@utdallas.edu

Education

2016 Ph.D. Political Science, University of Texas at Dallas
2013 M.A. Political Science, University of Texas at Dallas
2010 B.A. History, University of North Texas

Appointments

2016-2017 Lecturer, University of Texas at Dallas
2015 (Summer) Lecturer, University of Texas at Dallas

Research

Under Review

1. State Capacity and Transnational Terrorism (at Journal of Peace Research)
2. Judicial Responses to Counter-Terrorism Law After September 11th (at Democracy and Security)
3. Terrorist Networks and Targeted Killing: Determining Effects with a Temporal Exponential Random Graph Model (at Journal of Global Security Studies)

Works in Progress

1. Revisiting the Importance of State Capacity in Terrorism: The necessity of law enforcement
2. Prestige Matters: A formal model of terrorist targeting strategy (with Ilyian Iliev)
3. Disaggregating alliance types and their effects on terrorism
4. Each attack counts: Why some countries experience zero terrorist events
5. Explaining the determinants of Sub-Saharan African Attitudes Towards Chinese Foreign Direct Investment

Courses Taught

American National Government (Fall 2016)
Terrorism (Summer 2015)
State and Local Government (Summer 2014, Fall 2015)

Conference Papers

Junior Scholar Symposium

1. Assessing dynamic terrorist networks through temporal exponential random graph modeling
Midwest Political Science Association (April 2016)

Paper Presentations

1. Courts and Terrorism: Political stability and its effects on case outcomes
Midwest Political Science Association (April 2016).
2. Assessing the Dynamic Effects of Targeted Killing on Terrorist Networks
International Studies Association Annual Convention (March 2016).
3. The Effects of Institutional Capacity on Transnational Terrorism: 1996-2011
International Studies Association Annual Convention (March 2016).
4. Networks and Terrorism: How who you know affects what you do
Midwest Political Science Association (April 2015).

5. What about Democracy? Domestic Institutions and Transnational Terrorism.
Midwest Political Science Association (April 2014).

Academic Service

- 2016 Discussant – “Political Violence” (Midwest Political Science Association, 2016)
2014-2015 Dean’s Student Advisory Council (Graduate Departmental Representative)

Other Presentations

1. Institutional Strength and Transnational Terrorism
- Presented at the University of North Texas Graduate Symposium, February 2016

Professional Memberships

American Political Science Association, 2010-current Midwest Political Science Association, 2013-current Peace Science Society International, 2015-current International Studies Association, 2015-current

Awards, Grants, and Honors

- 2016 PhD Research Small Grants Program ($400)
2015 PhD Research Small Grants Program ($400)
2010 Academic Excellence Award, University of North Texas ($500)

Fields of Interest

Political Violence and Terrorism, International Networks, Middle Eastern Politics, International Conflict and War, Public Opinion and Violence

Methodological Training

Descriptive and Inferential Statistics
Regression
Time Series Analysis
Game Theory/Formal Modeling
Survey Research
Bayesian Analysis