Since opening in January of 2004, MC2 has enabled Management students to receive one-on-one research assistance from a librarian, as well as access the library's electronic resources, within the walls of the new School of Management building. The MC2 office, located in SM 2.206 (off the Undergraduate Study area), is a "virtual library" with fully-equipped computer workstations. The library liaisons for the School of Management provide reference support for MC2. Students are encouraged to visit MC2 during our office hours or contact the librarian to make an appointment 972-883-5960 or 972-883-2126, Loreen.phillips@utdallas.edu.

The Program

The McDermott Library Liaison Program works with UTD's different schools of study to assist with the research needs of faculty and students.

As liaisons, we will:

- Involve faculty as much as possible in managing the library's collection
- Identify and communicate regularly regarding curriculum-specific library materials and services
- Facilitate faculty and student access to all library collections and services

- Provide general and tailored instruction sessions to faculty, research staff, classes and student groups

This partnership allows for collaboration between the SOM and two liaisons, Loreen Phillips and Hillary Campbell, to ensure that faculty members are knowledgeable about the Library. We are eager to begin serving your research needs, so please feel free to call or email us at any time. We welcome the opportunity to meet with you in person to become apprised of your individual concerns and needs regarding the library. We hope you will bookmark this site and periodically visit our News & Notes area for updates and announcements pertaining to the liaison program.

We look forward to working with you!
