General Course Information

Pre-requisites, Co-requisites, & other restrictions Chin 1311 or same level of language proficiency

Course Description

This course continues to emphasize spoken Chinese for students to gain listening comprehension and verbal communication skills with more extensive vocabulary and sentence patterns. Meanwhile, students will continue to learn high-frequency characters in areas of immediate needs and bring the total number of characters to around 450. They will be able to identify these characters and use them in simple, meaningful sentences. Class will be conducted in vocabulary learning, pattern drills, dialogue practice, role-plays and group projects.

Learning Outcomes

Students will demonstrate the ability to understand simple conversational Chinese and construct their own dialogues in given situation.
Students will write 400 characters and be able to read them in meaningful context.
Students will analyze basic grammatical structures and apply them in speech and sentence writing.

Course Policies

Grading (credit) Criteria	Attendance and class participation	10%
	Assignments	25%
	Quizzes	25%
	Tests (3)	30%

	Final Exam 10%
Make-up Exams	No make-up exams or tests except for unusual circumstances, in which case students must arrange with the instructor before hand. Only one lowest quiz grade can be dropped on condition that all are taken
Extra Credit	Extra credit may be granted for students' special, creative work
Late Work	Students have to hand in their assignments in a timely manner before each quiz day. Late work will result in a 10% reduction of each total grade.
Class Attendance	Regular attendance is required. Be puncture and consult with the instructor when an absence is necessary. More than 3 hours of unexcused absences will result in deduction on final attendance grade.
Classroom Citizenship	All cell phones and pagers must be turned off in the classroom. Students are expected and encouraged to participate in group work and speak and talk to their partners. At other times, refrain from personal and private conversation during class time.
