Course Policies

This course is managed under the organizational behavior principle of procedural justice. In essence, procedural justice ensures that all parties receive fair treatment in any decision making that occurs. The Professor of this course elects to defer all decision making to course policies. At the beginning of this course, policies concerning attendance as well as grading have been established. The Professor will adhere to these guidelines, as well as those specific to each assignment, and will not make any exceptions for any reason.

Attendance

Just as how in one's job they are expected to be at work, students are expected to be in class and attendance is mandatory. Just as with the real world, employees are paid for being at work. In this course, students will be paid 15 points for each class period they attend counting toward their 100 point attendance total. Class begins promptly and lasts for 50 minutes. Students who come late, leave early, or leave the classroom during class will be docked 10 points of their attendance points for the day.

Class Participation

Employees who simply come to work and do nothing get fired. In this course students are expected to come prepared and actively participate in the discussion and activities for the day. Students should not feel that they have to constantly talk or attempt to answer every question; rather, they should add quality observations, questions, and statements to the discussion as to benefit the overall organization. Students who contribute quality actions to the class session may be rewarded with up to 15 points per class toward their overall course participation grade.

Cell phones and Laptops: Many companies, in their company handbook, make provisions for the use of cell phones and mobile devices during the company's time. The policy in this course is that cell phones and mobile devices are not allowed during class time for any reason, including telling time. This is in place for three reasons: 1) you need to be paying attention to what is occurring during class, 2) your use of a device may be a distraction to others in the class, 3) your use of a device may be a distraction to the Professor. Students electing to use a Laptop for note taking or for reading of the electronic textbook may do so; however, these students will be required to sit on the front rows of the classroom. Students who elect to violate the cell phone policy, or abuse the use of laptops by doing anything unrelated to the class at hand, will receive a warning which will include their forfeiture of any course participation points for the day. Subsequent violations will feature the student being asked to leave the classroom and forfeiture of attendance points in keeping with the attendance policy.

Grades

This course will feature a mix of activities and written activities. Activities may be in class or assigned as homework and will usually require the student to complete some type of task. Written activities will be due in-class typed on paper as well as uploaded to E-Learning and should follow the directions as specified on the instructions. Unless otherwise requested, all documents should follow APA style for an informal report. The Professor will provide detailed instructions as well as the quantitative scoring method for each assignment. Please consult the course schedule for specific deadlines.
